Beacon Converters manufactures bags that transport pharmaceutical materials through all phases of the drug manufacturing process. We tailor the properties of the bag to meet your needs, drawing upon a variety of DMF-listed materials. The performance attributes of a Beacon bag match the requirements of your application, whether it is a breathable microbial barrier, extreme toughness, or barrier protection from moisture, oxygen, other gases, or ultraviolet light. Bags may be produced up to 36 inches wide and up to 100 inches long. Some sizes can include a bottom gusset.

Beacon understands the unique demands of evolving drug delivery systems. We match a bag's performance attributes to your application's requirements, whether those include breathable microbial barrier, extreme toughness, or barrier protection from moisture, oxygen, other gases, or ultraviolet light.
